Analyzing Co-op Policy Cases

Poster presentations by students in JSJS 846

Co-operatives in the New Economy: Institutions, Governance, and Policy

Please join us for a wine and cheese reception showcasing the work of graduate students in public policy. Posters invite us to examine issues such as:

- Can communal enterprises survive in a capitalist economy?
- Can Co-op Life Cycle Theory explain organizational failure?
- Are credit unions more stable than banks in financial crises?
- Have policy changes undermined MEC's co-op identity?

Posters outline the problem and provide insights into the issue.
