THE CO-OPERATIVE MODEL IN HEALTHCARE: SUCCESSES AND CHALLENGES OF A 60- YEAR-OLD CO-OPERATIVE FEATURING DR. CORALIE DARCIS

Date: Wednesday, November 5

Time: 12:00 - 1:00 PM CST

(Saskatchewan time)

Where: on Zoom (free to attend)

Together with her colleagues from the Canadian Centre for the Study of Co-operatives, Dr. Coralie Darcis conducted an in-depth study of a 60-year-old co-operative primary health care clinic in Saskatoon. This presentation will share key findings from that research, offering insights into the clinic's historical development and its co-operative governance model. It will highlight the clinic's achievements in delivering accessible, community-centered care, while also addressing the unique challenges faced by health care co-operatives. These include issues related to long-term sustainability, shared governance, and funding mechanisms.
